When we take time for a coffee we are partaking of a certain culture. Everything associated with that moment is drawn into it, becoming part of the experience and our memory of it. More and more it is this simple ritual that contrasts with the complexity of modern life. The cups reflect this in their design. The cup suite was created from a desire to combine the aesthetic and the practical. Each piece looks and feels right, presenting as a simple and uncluttered form. Both the proportions and the volumes have been carefully considered so they feel good to hold and drink from.
